

Dear Planners

We have looked at the application, no 2016/4491/L, for Gordon Fisher House, 14 - 15 Great James Street, London, WC1N 3DP and have the following concerns:

- We feel permission should not be given for the applicants to chop off the bottom step of the original staircase in the basement so they can raise the floor there.
- We object to the installation of underfloor heating, as it seems intrusive structurally.
- We are would object to the replacement of 'non-original fireplaces' with generic reproduction Georgian ones if the non-original ones are from another historic period (e.g. Victorian).

Yours
Michael Pountney
