It will be a great improvement to lose the existing picket fence and replace it with low wall, hedge and timber gates. It is a pity that there should no longer be a pedestrian gate, the car rules in future! Also there appears to be less soft landscaping which is regrettable in the heart of Willett's original garden suburb. The reduction in height of the existing conservatory and the other minor changes are improvements. The front gable change is not objectionable but Willett did not like uniformity and would have deliberately designed one gable with stucco finish and another tiled.
