Grape Street Heritage Statement

The unit is located on the first floor of King Edward Mansions, a grade II listed building in the west end of London. King Edward Mansions (1902-8) is a 5 storey building of brick construction, originally with showrooms on the ground floor and offices and flats above. There are stone columns at ground and first floor level and various brick bays to the floors above.

The proposed works comprise the creation of a new opening between two existing bathrooms in flat 1d. The wall, which is assumed to be original (built between 1902-8)

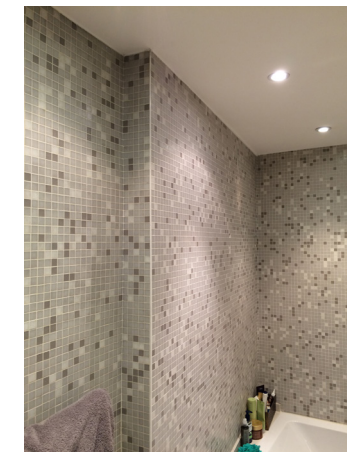

The units have undergone many previous alterations and little of the original interior survives. The proposed alteration is intended to be as sympathetic as possible to existing features and is limited to the interior of the building.

The exterior of flat 1d.
