Dear Carl,

Thank you for your email.

If the property is converted into flats, any external alteration would require planning permission.

If the property is a single family unit you would be able to install rooflights on your house under permitted development as there is no Article 4 directions on Dartmouth Park Conservation Area to restrict permitted development rights.

Under permitted development the rooflights would have to comply with the limitations and conditions of Class C, Part 1, Schedule 2 under Town and Country Planning (General Permitted Development) Order 2015 as follows:

Permitted development

C. Any other alteration to the roof of a dwellinghouse.

Development not permitted

C.1 Development is not permitted by Class C if—

(a) permission to use the dwellinghouse as a dwellinghouse has been granted only by virtue of Class M, N, P or Q of Part 3 of this Schedule (changes of use);

(b) the alteration would protrude more than 0.15 metres beyond the plane of the slope of the original roof when measured from the perpendicular with the external surface of the original roof;

(c) it would result in the highest part of the alteration being higher than the highest part of the original roof; or

(d) it would consist of or include—

(i) the installation, alteration or replacement of a chimney, flue or soil and vent pipe, or

(ii) the installation, alteration or replacement of solar photovoltaics or solar thermal equipment.

Conditions

C.2 Development is permitted by Class C subject to the condition that any window located on a roof slope forming a side elevation of the dwellinghouse must be—

(a) obscure-glazed; and

(b) non-opening unless the parts of the window which can be opened are more than 1.7 metres above the floor of the room in which the window is installed.

Being in conservation area I would advise you to install conservation area rooflights, which sit flush within the roof slope, and therefore their projection would not harm the appearance of the host dwelling, streetscene or conservation area.

Please note that this is not a confirmation as such that planning permission is not required. If you wish to have a letter from the Council confirming that, you will need to apply for Certificate of Lawful Development, through www.planningportal.co.uk

Best Regards,
