I live directly opposite the site of the proposed new condenser units, and I object to them in the strongest possible terms.

I have lived here since 1977. Over the last forty years various pumps, extractors and units have been placed on this site without planning permission, resulting in noise and air pollution that have become intolerable to local residents. Sometimes retrospective applications have been made, but usually the installations go up in small installments, without planning permission being sought or given.

Although planning has been sought in this case, it has not been well thought out and impacts negatively on the many people who live adjacent to the site.

The application states that noise levels will be acceptable, but we dispute this.

If you would take readings from Bedford Court Mansions, you would find much higher levels than those put forward in the application, to a level that is unacceptable.

The number of condensers it is proposed to install is not clear - you cannot make a decision based on such imprecise information.

Installations like the one proposed are very noisy and are usually sited on the tops of buildings, it is not acceptable that these units should be placed at a low level, causing maximum noise and air pollution and loss of amenity to local residents.

This proposal has been drawn up without any regard to the local residents who will be direct affected and the council should reject it
