Is the new angle of the rear paths going to impact the wall/garden/fence where our boundaries meet? It is unclear in the drawings. Will there be a need to breach the shared retaining wall? How tall will the tiered gardens be at the rear. Will there be a loss of privacy at the rear with this new height? Will it be accessible for residents to lounge on it, which might compromise overlooking and privacy. If these can be addressed so I understand the potential impact I would appreciate it.
