The rooflight, which is positioned close to the front elevation to the Park, would be visible in long views from the Park, disrupting the unity of the Listed terrace, which, while reconstructed in part, retains its original, unified, symmetrical forms. The use of glazing in this location would also glitter in the sunlight – and allow light pollution, both further adding to the harm to the significance of the heritage asset. There is no countervailing public benefit which might outweigh this harm. Richard Simpson FSA Chair RPCAAC
