My enquiry is	Hi I have two trees in my garden that appear to have died in the last couple of years - having produced no leaves at all. They are an old damson tree towards the end of my garden on the west side, and an ornamental cherry tree planted about 15 years ago. I am getting a tree surgeon in to quote for their removal and intend to replace the damson with a similar tree. Is there any problem with my doing this from Camden's perspective? Best Regards Peter Walker
