This temple church in Camden (Ref 2016/7088/P) faces demolition and, given its connections to the great Arthur Conan Doyle, I believe it should be saved, restored to its former glory and kept as a community resource - perhaps as a museum dedicated to Conan Doyle, whose work brings so many tourists to London.

Kind regards

Dear Sir/Madam,

I hear via a group on Social Media that the Rochester Spiritualist Church is being sold with plans for Demolition, I feel this would be a great loss historically as there is a great interest in Arthur Conan Doyle and Sherlock Holmes and could possibly be of great use as a Museum or Information Centre.

Kind Regards,

Dear Sir or Madam

I am writing this email to ask for the planning permission to be stopped on the above church. This building has lots of history to it as I expect you well know. It will be a terrible thing to happen to such a building as this

I am a spiritual medium and have served this church many times and always found the love and energy there every time I have been there.

I am totally against what is being planned to be there and wonder what use it will be there for the area it is in. I know that money is a great factor in this too.

Please listen to what many are saying about this who too are against this planning to take place and stop this going through.

Thanking you

Mrs Gwen Smith.
