To Whom it May Concern

The square of Rochester Square is a small area of few properties and many residents are not owner occupiers.

However, local people, those associated with Rochester Square Spiritualist Church, and others, are requesting a full investigation into the building to the right of the Spiritualist church as there is some suggestion that council planning application notices were removed from the street, and property owners within the small square were not notified that planning permission had been applied for.

There has been much publicity concerning the prospective demolition of Rochester Square Spiritualist Church and any investigation into the attached building should also involve investigation into the church property and its association with the attached building.

Yours faithfully
