The application does not include reasonable drawings of the proposed shed and how it relates to the width of the side passage where it is to be sited, nor is the height specified of the garden wall against which it is presumably going to be placed. There is also no information given about whether it is proposed to have a permanent foundation, or whether it will prevent access to any drainage inspection covers.

The sketch of the scheme places the shed just behind a wall with a gate or door which partly screens the side passage. However more information is needed before we can judge if the shed is to be concealed from view from the front of the house by this wall, and additionally, if its height, 2 m, does not exceed the height of the garden wall alongside.

Only if this information is supplied would we, or Camden Planning for that matter, be able to properly assess this application.
