Subject: Consultation on 2017/5497/P.

Dear Ms Walsh,

Again, at 2017/5497/P, a developer is proposing a too-high development along the Canal.

3 development proposals along the Canal recently have got in to planning trouble:
Camden's Bangor Wharf,
Islington's Regents Wharf
Hackney's Angel Wharf

The Camden Tom Baker proposal is yet another: too high, too big, not adequately sensitive to local residents and local concerns.
In terms of factual numbers, it essentially comes down to a light issue: is the proposed development contravening BRE guidelines?
If so, then the proposal should be significantly altered.
My suggestion is a maximum of 5 stories, with any additional roof stories being set back '45 degrees' on leading edges.

Yours sincerely,

Charles Manson
