This makes it very hard if not impossible for a lay person to comprehend. 2. There are no annotations on the design drawings which show what internal/external construction work is being undertaken. Again, this makes it very hard if not impossible for a lay person to comprehend. 3. I have heard informally that on the third floor construction there will be a beam and column fixed to the internal party wall. But this is not shown on the documents which are online. This needs to be shown in the documents so I can provide informed comments on the conversion. 4. In Drawing CG 25 (third floor plan) there seems to be a shower room and bathroom proposed for construction next to the internal party wall. As there are no existing down pipes on the adjacent external wall this presumably means that the shower and toilet will be electric. The pumps required for electric showers/toilets are very noisy and this noise will therefore interfere with the enjoyment of my property immediately below (2nd floor) and thus a loss of amenity. I ask that the shower and toilet be moved to the external wall side where the noise interference will be reduced.
