Dear John

Just to confirm I have submitted the information on the specification of the clay tile for the above project as part of the discharge of conditions, via the Planning Portal.

There is a sample on site of the proposed Dreadnought sand faced red single camber clay tile if you would like to inspect it.

The original tiles are Marley single camber red sand faced, but the Dreadnought tile was a better colour and texture match when compared to the unweathered portion of an existing tile and was therefore the closest to the original tile surface.

We would appreciate confirmation that the condition regarding the roof tile is discharged as soon as possible, as the contractor is keen to progress the works.

Many thanks

David
