2017/5238/P	Mrs Galina Portiano	3 Mansion Gardens	21/02/2018 14:41:43	OBJEMPE R	Dear Mr Farrant, while we as a family didn't object to the actual installation of those air-conditioning units, there are a few points that I wanted to put across for your attention and consideration. First of all, Mr. Bloomfield seems to have gotten into a habit of actually first doing various works on his house in the last three years and only then asking the Camden Council for permission, retrospectively. If all of us do that, London will be a shambles. There are rules and regulations for everyone that should be abided by. We all need to go through certain process relating to certain planned building works, but Mr Bloomfield seems to think that those rules can be flaunted or ignored. Secondly, considering the sizes of all of the houses in Mansion Gardens, personally I struggle to understand why he needs three external air-conditioning units, considering the size of his property. Thirdly and lastly, I strongly object to the parking place that he created in his garden, in direct contradiction to rules and regulations. He created the space, only then applying for permission. Camden Council refused the application, yet the car parking space remains in its place and is visible on this retrospective application plan. We strongly objected to this car parking place, due to its position and environmental impact, as well as the negative impact on MG residents and we don't want to create any shadow of doubt about this particular subject, as Mr. Bloomfield might end up using it to his advantage, if you grant him retrospective permission for air-conditioning unit installation, potentially saying that Camden Council approved his plans and parking space in the middle of his garden. I wanted to be crystal clear about this and to yet again for this to be a matter of public record, so things won't be misconstrued by Mr. Bloomfield and his team. Thank you for your attention on this matter, kind regards, Sergei & Galina Portiano
