Dear Ms Davis,

Planning Application 2017/6280/P = 43a Kingsgate Road, NW6

My partner and I have been made aware that a planning application has been lodged in respect of 43a Kingsgate Road. From the details online, this application seems simply to repeat the application 2016/4318/P, which was rejected last year. In fact, the "Proposed Layouts, Elevations and Sections" (document 16025-3D) is identical to that which was submitted in 2016. We objected to the earlier application, and were visited by Matthew Dempsey (LBC planning) in February 2017 so that he could assess the impact of the proposed development from our property.

The entry on the website doesn't specify if or when there will be a consultation on the resubmitted proposals. Obviously it will be easy for us to respond, as our comments will be exactly the same! But why is the Council entertaining a resubmission of a already – and recently - rejected application?

We would be very grateful if you could you could clarify the situation via email.

Yours sincerely,

Meade McCloughan & Vivien Gambling
