2018/2568/P	Debbie Radcliffe for Bloomsbury CAAC	11/07/2018 23:12:03	COMMNT	BCAAC considers the new shopfront to be an improvement on the existing one in terms of reverting to a more traditional design. However, the creation of door between the windows makes the façade appear rather squashed o the ground floor. There is limited width available between the original corbels, and this sense of compression is exacerbated by the main door being brought forward to align with the windows/new entrance. The traditional design of the main door is also more in keeping with the conservation area.
