My enquiry is

Planning Application for 81 Haverstock Hill, London.NW3 4SL No: 2018/2041/P
My enquiry is that an application has been submitted to change the basement of 81 into a Hot Yoga Class which is ok but it is the noise that the A/C units make and I see that they have already installed the large Air Conditioning units before the application has been sanctioned. These units are situated in a basement area where it is open to the elements and which is surrounded by residents above the 2 busuineeses who have access to this well. As you may know that sound is magnified because as it acts like a tunnel. I am 3 floors above the well and overlook it and I can hear people talking and hear what they are saying when out on my terrace and in my kitchen so you can imagine what the noise level will be like when the A/C units are running 24/7 throughout the day and night as the classes start at 7am to 9;30pm. There are also other residents above well who will be effected by the noise plus the businesses in 77 and 79 Haverstock Hill as they will working just above the A/C units.
These units are no where near 81 because there is a large office which belongs to 79 plus the building of 79 separating building 81 from the noise of the A/C units from being heard in 81 and will not effect them which in my view is wrong.
I know I missed the deadline for submitting my abjection on the application, hence this email.
Thank you for your kind attention in this matter.
