Dear Mr McClue,

As regards 100 Avenue Road, I understand that the developers are seeking permission to remove two fire exits from the new building, the bin storage in the 'affordable' section and reduce the basement area. These changes would also seem to me to be outrageous and unacceptable and should be refused. The safety of the new residents in light of all the recent tragedies should not be compromised. Equally removing bin storage will only add to waste being left in the square.

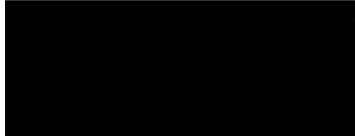

Please do not allow these changes.

The developers should be encouraged to rethink their plans completely and consider a smaller building that can fit the site and the constraints which they clearly recognize given they are having to cut corners to fit everything they want in to the building.

Best regards

Simon Parry-Wingfield
