Subject: Keep breast Cancer Haven appeal

Good morning,

I am sad to hear that Breast Cancer Haven is having to move out of its home of 20 years because of the lease expiring next year.

As a breast Cancer sufferer at the age of 39 i Personally need Breast Cancer Haven – its the ONLY place in London offering treatments to us, i have personally benefited a huge amount by breast cancer haven as the treatments have helped relax my mind and body during the worst year of my life. I have loved the aromatherapy massage and reflexology and have a great day on the day of the day of my treatment.

I recently had a double mastectomy and now they are now helping me deal with the scarring, if I didn't get this support it would not have eliminated the anxiety i had been feeling about it. I didn't even know such treatments existed and couldn't have imagined going through this year without the support if breast cancer haven. Unfortunately I haven't been able to attend any of the support groups yet as i have a young baby but i now need to attend these too as i have a strong need to meet others in my situation.

For me to continue using breast cancer Haven i need it to be in a quick accessible place in London as i have a young baby and need friends to meet me outside the venue to babysit whilst i have my treatment.
