Dear Laura,

I understand that Breast Cancer Haven is applying to utilise a property in Kings Cross for use as a Breast Cancer Haven.

I am a Breast Cancer Specialist Nurse at UCLH and would like to say how invaluable the Breast Cancer Haven service is for our patients. I specialise in patients with the Oncology setting, both with curable disease and Secondary Breast Cancer. You may be aware of the National publicity recently regarding the need to improve support specifically for Secondary Breast Cancer patients. Breast Cancer Haven is able to contribute to that support to those people affected and their families. I attended a parliamentary Reception in the houses of Parliament last week on this matter so this application has come at a very important time to ensure that the support from Breast Cancer Haven can continue. All patients with a diagnosis of Breast cancer find the support from Breast Cancer Haven invaluable and enhance any support that is provided by their local hospital, it offers a larger variety of services than most hospitals are able to provide and often faster access to these services.

Kings Cross is an ideal location for not only UCLH patients but from patients across London and beyond because of the good transport links. I think the easier it is to get to a venue the more likely people are to attend.

I think an ideal location would have plenty of space for both group and individual meeting/ sessions/ treatments in a relaxing environment

I hope you will accept this email in support of this very important planning application

Kind Regards

Liz Tee
