The flat was constantly rented out for parties for air bnb guests throughout the whole summer and my privacy was effected my constant noise and traffic of guests arriving and leaving the flat. I am dreading to think what it will be like living next door to a larger, extended property heavily rented out for parties. The extension would only help the owners to rent the place out to even more people, but people living next door to the flat would be suffering as a result. I would also like to address the air bnb issue at the same time.

With regards,
