2019/0837/T	Patrick Allen and Penny Thexton	21/02/2019 18:51:47	OBJ	We strongly object to the tree being felled
				We have a good view of the tree from our back garden and get a lot of pleasure from seeing it. It is a lovely and mature specimen
				The Robinia tree has been there for many years, It is a delightful tree with small light pale yellow/green leaves which vibrate in a breeze. It lets through a lot of light and so works well well in a restricted space in a smallish London garden
				We had to intervene with the tree office some years ago when the owners of 34 Albert Street were carrying out works to build a rear kitchen extension. The roots of the Robinia tree were threatened by the works. The tree officer attended as an emergency and made sure that the tree was not damaged. Without his intervention the tree would have died
				This is a conservation area and the tree positively enhances the area. The back gardens of Albert St have a number of fine trees and this is one of them. We all benefit from their beauty
				The tree is now quite tall but it ought to be possible to prune it to restrain its growth
				We urge the council not to grant permission for the free to be felled
