Council's Evidence

It was brought to the attention of the Council in April 2013 that the site had been developed out of accordance with the previously approved plans of 2005/2545/P to form (amongst other matters) 27 x studio and 1 bed flats, rather than the approved 13 flats (with a mix of studios, 1, 2 and 3 bed self-contained flats).

A Planning Contravention Notice was quickly served on the owner as a prelude to serving an enforcement notice against this breach of planning control. In response the owner provided evidence in the form of lease agreements, invoices and sworn statements that the use of the property as 27 residential units had existed, continually in excess of four years. The Council did not have any evidence to contradict this and the Council had to accept they were immune from enforcement action under Section 171B of the Town & Country Planning Act 1990 (T&CPA) and the enforcement case was closed on 26th May 2013.

The property was revisited by one of Camden Council's Planning Enforcement Officers in March 2017. It was confirmed that the property has not materially changed since it was inspected in 2013.

Assessment and Context

The Secretary of State has advised local planning authorities that the burden of proof in applications for a Certificate of Lawfulness is firmly with the applicant (DOE Circular 10/97, Enforcing Planning Control: Legislative Provisions and Procedural Requirements, Annex 8, para 8.12). The relevant test is the “balance of probability”, and authorities are advised that if they have no evidence of their own to contradict or undermine the applicant’s version of events, there is no good reason to refuse the application provided the applicant’s evidence is sufficiently precise and unambiguous to justify the grant of a certificate. The planning merits of the use are not relevant to the consideration of an application for a certificate of lawfulness; purely legal issues are involved in determining an application.

No. 240 Kilburn High Road is a five-storey building with a D2 (dance studio) unit at ground floor level and self-contained flats at ground, first, second, third and fourth floor levels. This was observed on the site visit with separate intercoms and post-boxes as well as each individual front door having its own lock. Each self-contained flat has its own kitchen and bathroom and there are no shared facilities present at site apart from the main staircase to access each floor.

The applicant/agent is seeking clarification of the authorised use the building as there is no planning applications made on the site for these works.

The Council is satisfied that the evidence submitted demonstrates that the first, second, third, fourth and part of the ground floor at No. 240 Kilburn High Road have been in use as self-contained flats for a period surpassing four years. Council Tax records (as discussed above) further confirm the use of all of the self-contained units. Therefore, it can be demonstrated that the layout and residential situation of the applicant building has been in its existing situation for a continuous period of more than 4 years on the 'balance of probability' in respect of the satisfaction of the evidence submitted and subsequent site visit to the building.

The Council's enforcement history on the site (discussed above in the 'Council's Evidence' section of the report), serves to confirm the period of use and self-contained nature of the 27 x residential units.

The information provided by the applicant is deemed to be sufficiently precise and unambiguous to demonstrate that 'on the balance of probability', the first, second, third, fourth and part of the ground floor level at No. 240 Kilburn High Road has been in use as a 27 x self-contained flats and has been used in this manner for a period of more than 4 years as required under the Act. Furthermore, the Council's evidence does not contradict or undermine the applicant's version of events.
