| 2019/1359/P     |                  | 26/05/2019 23:02:35 | OBJ      | I have lived at number 2 for thirty years. The offending commercial fans, that were fitted in November 2018, are seriously noisy. Especially at night. From the moment they were fitted, they were reported to the shop owner. Nothing has been done to silence them and something needs to be done. It is seriously disrupting and I need to keep the window to my bedroom closed, and that only partially suppresses the noise. In my opinion, they need to be removed as soon as possible as six months of distress have already been suffered by the whole mews.  |
| 2019/1359/P     |                  | 25/05/2019 09:45:01 | OBJ      | I'd like to object to this application. These fans are not the original fans as claimed in the application and were installed late last year. These are a lot louder and are on more frequently. For the past 6 months we have had noisy nights - it's especially bad from bedroom level which is equal to the fan. We have a baby trying to sleep in the front room and this isn't acceptable. We need help resolving this as it cannot continue. The entire mews is upset with the noise and disturbance. The acoustic coverings have made no noticeable difference and have just created an even bigger eye sore in a conservation area. One application cannot have such collateral impact to so many people in terms of both noise AND visual impact in a conservation zone. This will just get worse in summer as the hot weather means the fans will be on longer and we will also need our windows open at night which is impossible currently . |

| 2019/1359/P     |                  | 25/05/2019 16:16:12 | APP      | I live in the flat above 13 South End Road and the air con unit in question is adjacent to our roof. I have lived here for 3 years and the unit has remained dormant. Aside from the eyesore it didn't cause us much trouble, however, around 3 months ago it started making quite a loud noise. There's a constant hum of the air conditioning but also an awful rattling sound coming from the chimney. The main issue is how loud this thing is. Two people who live in the flat can hear the noise in their rooms and one can even feel the vibrations in her bedroom walls. Another issue is the time from which this thing starts up, around 7am and then it is on constantly till around 9/10pm. I understand that we live in a busy city with lots of noises we can't control, but I'm sure certain things can be put in place to either provide a quieter air con system or even move it away from the houses. It is so rare to find a peaceful spot in London and our roof terrace overlooking the mews used to be so quiet, but now that is quite a different experience sitting next to the constant hum of the air con unit. I hope this can be resolved peacefully. Thank you. |
| 2019/1359/P     |                  | 24/05/2019 17:37:35 | OBJ      | No 21 already have two large air condensing units without planning permission. The noise has taken peace out of our tenant at night. And now they are applying for one more unit which is unacceptable and we also request you to dismantle the other two units.   |
