Hi, my name is Bella, I have been Hampstead resident for my whole life, and I oppose to Abacus Belsize Park School's application.

Hampstead is notorious for its greenery. There has been a drastic increase in traffic over my life living in Hampstead. Not only has this affected the air quality, but it has disrupted Hampstead's calmness.

School-run hours are the most unpleasant times of day to be out and about. This is due to the plethora of schools within the area. Why add another? It is unlikely that young children will be taking public transport.

Developing a primary school on Roslyn hill will create more unnecessary disruption to the (already disrupted) neighbourhood. It will mean more traffic, more litter and more chaos.

I want Hampstead's tranquil character to remain.

John Keats:

"Heard melodies are sweet, but those unheard are sweeter".

Please help sustain Hampstead's calmness.

Thanks,

Bella Shinder
