2019/5096/T	Patricia and Simon Gorringe	15/10/2019 14:36:08	COMMNT	We've lived on Highgate West Hill for 20 years and this tree forms part of the "green avenue" down the Hill the maintenance of which has always been a priority for Camden. Based on the evidence provided in this application by Mr Rose, this tree does not appear to be diseased and therefore it is not comprehensible why it should be felled to the ground. Is there no alternative, such a pruning or spraying if indeed there seems to be some kind of issue with it? I understand that there has been considerable recent success in recovery from disease in this species, but again the submission suggests that this tree is not diseased.
