2019/5872/T	Jonathan Byatt	22/11/2019 07:52:22	SUPC	A risk to the structural integrity of a property should be addressed as described in the recommended course of action. This provides a high confidence of resolution as the soil rehydrates and settles once more. However, this recommended course will entail the destruction of healthy trees, some of which are small enough to be readily transplanted. To retain their usefulness in tackling noise and pollution can the Camden gardening contractors be engaged to find alternate homes for replanting. For example, the busy estate at south end close would benefit in having additional foliage to absorb pollution in their busy location. Such recycling can also apply to the larger sycamore whose large sections of trunk can be laid as soft climbing features for the estate's children.
