2019/6011/T	Barry Fox	17/12/2019 14:46:09	OBJ	The tree under threat of destruction is described in the application as NOT protected by a Tree Preservation Order. The tree is described as NOT diseased or dangerous. And it is described as NOT causing damage to drains of subsidence. So I call on Camden now to put a Tree Preservation Order on the tree. The tree under threat is near the middle of the garden behind the Gilling and Holmefield Court blocks and this garden is geographically shared in that there are no boundaries in the garden. Residents roam freely. But residents of Holmefield Court were not warned of the application to fell a tree which is a shared environmental asset. On the face of things this is at best grossly discourteous and cavalier.

2019/6011/T	Richard Dent	17/12/2019 21:43:11	OBJ	There was no local consultation of Holmefield Court residents who share the garden with Gilling Court. No official notice to any local residents of Holmefield Court with notices through our doors or with our building owner, only a small notice on the tree. The area is described as a courtyard when it is a shared garden, there is no 'court' areas. Therefore the planning process has not been legally followed and must be refused.
2019/6011/T	Barry Fox	16/12/2019 11:17:04	OBJ	No reason for felling a mature CO2-guzzling tree is given. The form box re. subsidence is ticked 'No'. And the plan to replace it with a "12-14cm Magnolia soulangeana" (a 5 inch pot plant) is ludicrous.
