In this way, Camden will be able to reuse the plants to reduce pollution and improve the general environment within Camden at little or no cost. Such Camden Estates as South End close would benefits from such plants and shrubs which would improve the general environment and the quality of life for residents, as an example. Where such large building changes are planned the impact upon the existing flora and fauna will be considerable. In such cases, Camden is well placed to recycle the existing plants and use this to benefit key areas of Camden. Otherwise, such plants which may be expensive or rare and which provide a means to combat pollution and generally improve the quality of life if and the environment will be lost and destroyed.
