

Layout Notes:

This plan shows the layout of the main patio adjacent to the house.

The main patio is level with the interior of the house, and the side sun patio to the north-east is raised by 150mm and accessed via steps from the main patio.

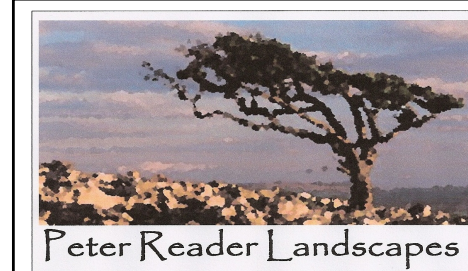

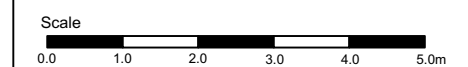

The fence on the north-east by the sun patio is screened by horizontal Iroko wood trellis. The fence itself is simple wood slat fence and extends around the garden. In front of this and behind the patio is a feature stone clad wall on which a sculpture is mounted.

The fence to the south-west where the path runs around the side of the house is of Jacksons Hit and Miss Venetian panels.

The planters on the patios are raised to variable heights of around 550mm and are constructed of 215mm thick wall of bricks matching the main house, with a coping matching the patio paving.

A slot ACO drain runs across the patio and down the south-west side of the house to collect rainwater from the hard surfaces.
