It is extremely upsetting that this has taken place within a residential block and to have to put up with the noise, especially as we are a young family with a baby. I am very surprised to learn that the council has approved such noisy equipment to be situated at the back of a residential block. My flat looks out onto this extension and it is both unsightly and very noisy.

They are situated in a residential block and the effect on the residents has not been adequately considered , nor has the increased noise pollution .

These units not only look unsightly when viewed from our flat but they are extremely noisy, emit large amounts of pollution and I strongly oppose them being there.
