2020/5867/P	Cem Salfati	24/12/2020 10:41:39	AMEND	hi, Is it possible this works starts once corporations start to have their employees return to the office? Today, we all work from home, and a significant works such as this will negatively impact our work day (i.e. noise). I am afraid we will not be able to take calls or work with adequate focus. (I spend 6 hours of my work day on the phone). I appreciate no one knows when the pandemic will be over, but it is probably safe to say during second half of 2021, things should start to return to "old normal". Hence, I kindly ask if you can consider this in your planning timelines. Thank you for your consideration. Regards, Cem

2020/5867/P	Su	19/12/2020 08:37:10	COMMNT	Please take into the account the recent demolishing of a block of flats in Lancaster Grove that has been ongoing for over 4 years and the same can be expected for this developer. The area has logistical challenges for delivery of materials and the traffic issues of double parking added on top I think the school will stay open Is everyone prepared for 4or 5 years of noise and dirt in their homes I object due to the amount of time this will take and the detrimental effect on the life of people who live close by
