Rosella is currently a great, family friendly addition to the neighbourhood and I'm pleased that they are doing so well they can expand. I support their expanding the restaurant and look forward to their being open on Sundays but object to the extended hours. I am concerned that the extended hours will disturb the sleep of people living directly opposite i.e. a few metres away and in the flats above. The neighbours include young families through to the elderly and it is not viable to have a lively, bustling pavement restaurant open beyond 11 pm without making enough noise to wake people up especially at closing time at 1 am. I think till midnight at weekends would be fine but in the week only till 11. The Vine is already a problem as I'm often woken up by drunk people talking loudly as they leave.
