Assessment

The willow is situated in the rear garden and cannot be seen from the street as it is obscured by the house and is therefore not considered to provide visual amenity to a public place. It is not a particularly large or noteworthy example of its species and its form had been impaired by regular pruning. The tree is not of a rare species and in itself not of any known historical value.

The willow is not considered to be worthy of being brought under the protection of a tree preservation order.
