2021/1085/P	Colin Coyne	15/05/2021 19:09:46	OBJ	I strongly object to the planning permission for converting the first floor function room to flats as I believe that the function room should be restored for community use and the fire escape that they had previous permission for should be created to make the function room viable. The first floor function room would be a great asset to the locals and the community in general, and would greatly benefit the pub as a business, the only thing preventing it being used is the lack of a fire escape doorway.
2021/1085/P	Christian Michel	16/05/2021 15:54:23	COMMNT	We are the co-organisers of a discussion group that meets about once a month to discuss social and economic issues. The group is open to all, does not have a designated speaker, and offers a very diverse audience the possibility of expressing their ideas and opinions, rather than passively listening to a talk. For several years now, we have used the function room at the Cock Tavern for our meetings. We could not continue without this facility. There are few venues in central London, which are as cheap and welcoming as this pub (actually, we have not come across any during the time the Cock Tavern was not available, and not for lack of combing the internet, making numerous calls on the phone or in person). We know several groups meet at the Cock Tavern. The loss of its function room will impoverish the social and intellectual life of the people of Camden.
2021/1085/P	Mike May	15/05/2021 17:12:05	OBJ	I object to this. The pub including its function room are an asset of community value which status should not expire. Camden cannot continually allow its pub estate to be decimated for the sake of a few rabbit-hutch sized flats that benefit only spiv property developers, none of whom live in the borough or spend any time there. Stand up for the people who elect you!
