2021/2954/P	Brian Watters	23/07/2021 10:36:48	OBJ	I have two objections:- 1) Unnecessary volume of office space being created. The market has changed. The news today is that post lifting of restrictions and encouragement to go back to work, there has only been an 8% uplift in people returning to offices. The working environment is now a hybrid one, a mix of working from home and in office. The "City centre" model of having offices is also changing on top of that because of the problems with commute. Instead offices are adapting to move to smaller spaces in towns nearer the homes of their workers. 2) Aesthetically disturbing height: it is too big and dominant from both a visual perspective and also for the reasons set out in 1) above.
