I live at [REDACTED] I experience noise nuisance from existing air conditioning units at the back of shops on Southend Green Road, and I know that several neighbours have a harder time than me. It's really a shame the existing air conditioning units are there. Our problems would only be made worse if this application went ahead.

I find it depressing that people are still making such frivolous applications for something as environmentally destructive as air conditioning in small retail units, when there is so much being parroted about climate change, and incredible that any responsible local government could seriously entertain it.
