Published 1934 - 1935

Source map scale - 1:2,500

The historical maps shown were reproduced from maps predominantly held at the time adopted for England, Wales and Scotland in the 1940s. In 1854 the 1:2,500 scale maps were adopted for mapping the whole of Great Britain. The published date given below is often some years later than the surveyed date. Before 1938, all OS maps were based on the Cassini Projection, with independent surveys of a single county or group of counties, giving rise to significant inaccuracies in outlying areas.

London

Source map scale - 1:1,056

The 1:1056 scale of Ordnance Survey mapping was adopted from Ireland in 1848 and was used to survey towns with a population of over 4000, plus smaller populations. It was the first scale adopted for the mapping of the country in 1844-55. The 1:1056 scale was the first to be adopted for the mapping by the Ordnance Survey and a 'sketch' survey of the capital, showing little more than streets, street names, frontages and altitudes, was undertaken between 1848 and 1850. The majority of the 1:1056 surveys were later replaced by 1:500 surveys, although almost all the remainder were revised at this scale, sometimes more than once before 1895. The type of detail shown on the 1:1056 scale is broadly similar to that on 1:500; the apparent omission of minor details such as sewer access points and street lights may be as much a reflection of the generally earlier date of these plans, as of the specification of the map.

Please note: Due to the partial coverage of Historical Town Plans, it is possible that not all segments within an order will contain mapping. Only the segments that have Town Plan coverage will be generated.

Historical Aerial Photography

Source map scale - 1:1,250

The Historical Aerial Photos were produced by the Ordnance Survey at a scale of 1:1,250 and are derived from Air Force photography. They were produced as a security measure in 1944/1945 to replace the original production of conventional maps. The original editions were replaced by new security measures in the 1950s, meaning that every photograph was rechecked for potentially unsafe information with security sites replaced by fake fields or clouds. The original editions were withdrawn and only later made available after a period of fifty years although due to the accuracy of the editing, without viewing both revisions it is not easy to spot the edits. Where available Landmark have included both revisions.
