Dear Sir or Madam,

I write with reference to the above application for two windows to be created in the wall at the back of the property in question. I have tried unsuccessfully to make use of the online comments procedure, but using the reference failed to turn up the correct address or application. Your cutoff date is this Sunday. Please therefore now accept the following comments via email.

The proposed alteration will have the effect of overlooking the rear garden of our building, and for this reason we have some reservations. Knowing that the adjoining wall is in the same ownership, and that the creation of these new windows could amount to an irresistible precedent for further windows along the building – and greater inroads on the privacy of the rear garden – gives us even more misgivings.

We trust you to give these views your serious consideration.

Yours faithfully,

Edward Foster
