2021/3631/P	Richard Booth	28/09/2021 18:02:48	OBJ	I am concerned about this proposal. I have lived nearby for over 25 years and come to value the sense of historic continuity in the streets, the balance between buildings and the space around them, the sense of unity. A mansard roof on this house will upset all these things. The existing pattern of roofs on number 37 and adjacent houses has a distinct balance and character, the roofs share a common design, they belong naturally and intrinsically to their houses - because they were built as such. They have been part of the street for nearly 200 years. When I walk down Mornington Street, say, I see the tops of the houses in Arlington Road and they have a shared, mature character. The walls, the chimney stacks and the roofs are in balance. We surely don't want to lose this.
