There are groups of youths that hang about already in various areas on the estate using gas cylinders and dealing drugs, so I feel as a tenant that it is a bad idea. The areas won't be used as intended, also there is an old people's home opposite this area. I believe this will lead to more anti social behaviour and problems for all the residents on the estate and in the old people's home. Residents living rooms and bedrooms face out onto that area which means more noise if people are trying to relax after being at work, Summer months will be horrible as our balconies face that way as well so we will have to incur even more noise during this season.
