2021/5682/P	Christiane Ten-Hoopen	10/01/2022 21:22:23	OBJ	Dear Elaine Quigley, The main concern is the loss of the original plan form on the first floor. This is likely to be the grandest floor and, in addition, there may be cornices and a decorative ceiling concealed above the modern suspended ceiling. Regrettably this demolition has already happened on the upper floors which is all the more reason to retain the remaining plan form of the first floor. From the street the apprehension of separate rooms on the first floor will be quite apparent and the conversion of open plan would lose this reading of the original layout and construction of the building. For the above reasons the BCAAC objects to this application. Christiane Ten-Hoopen
