Dear Miriam

You are right. The comments were written before the revised version was uploaded. However, the revisions, whilst improving on the initial proposal, are not in themselves sufficient to cause us to revise our earlier recommendation that the proposal should be rejected.

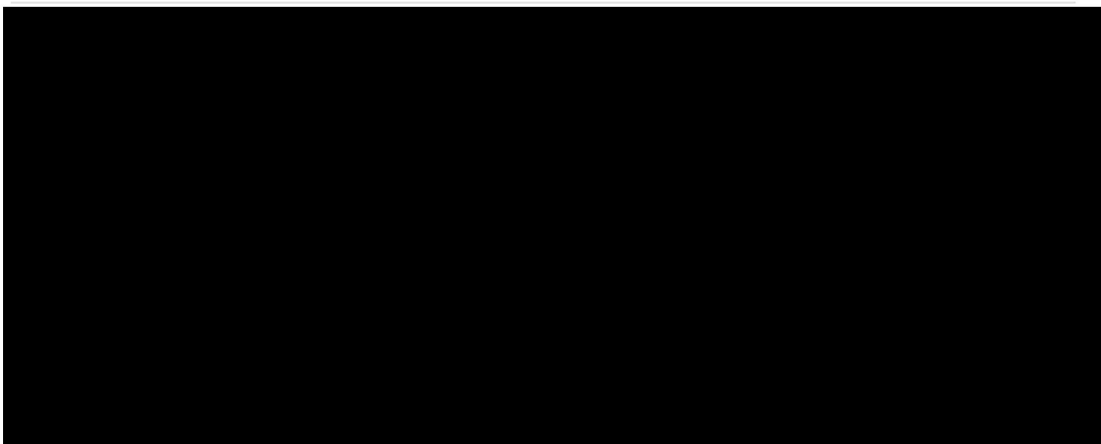

1. Whereas the reduction of the bulk of the extension can be noted as a positive change, it is still disproportionately large and
 - a. occupies the same length and width as before, i.e. runs along the entire length of the main building
 - b. fills the full width of the side alley up to the boundary wall
2. The reduction of the height of the side extension makes it slightly less imposing than before, but it continues to obscure the views into the back garden from street level.
3. The majority of our earlier concerns remain e.g. insufficient drawings, the window size and pattern.

As stated above, we continue to object to the proposal.

Best wishes

David
