I write in response to your letter of 3 February regarding an application to fell a London plane tree to the ground in Doughty Street.

I am sure that there are other ways of accommodating this tree, which certainly should not be felled if at all possible.
Indeed, I understand that a similar application got rejected a while ago, so that this one is being considered is the more surprising.

I believe it is not good practice to cut such trees down, and I oppose this application strongly.
