I should like to object on the following grounds:

1. The proposed high rise buildings will dominate the surrounding area and obscure the view of London from the Heath and the Heath from Kentish Town. There are too many and too high.
2. There are no plans for proper green space for the residents within the development
3. The proposed number of residential dwellings will mean a large additional population who will access the southern part of the heath.
4. The traffic on Gordon House Road and Highgate road already forms long traffic jams - the development will intensify this and will be dangerous for pedestrians and cyclists.
- particularly school children.

Yours sincerely
