Dear Camden

Please don't allow the removal of these two plane trees. Keeping large trees in urban areas wherever possible provides vital habitats for wildlife. As they can be seen from many homes, including mine, they are an important and tranquil part of the local landscape in an otherwise busy environment. Trees are good for the planet, good for wildlife, and good for the local community.

Expert structural engineers have confirmed that any damage to nearby properties is minor and non-urgent, and there is a solution being proposed which would mean that the trees can live alongside the nearby buildings without problems. It would be a really negative move to remove them. They should be kept for future generations to enjoy.

Please keep trees in the city - especially huge, beautiful and healthy examples such as these!

yours sincerely,
