Dear Bethany, Jonathan, Everybody,

I would like to lodge a personal objection to the application above, based on Murphy's original and consistent expression of a desire to leave a 'legacy' with this development.

If they genuinely wish this to be a legacy of which they can be anything other than ashamed, they have an opportunity to build the first truly sustainable development of this kind in the country, with radical choices such as high-rise timber, planting and green space that is a haven for wildlife rather than a manicured dead space, and residential dwellings designed to bring together young families and isolated older people in intentional intergenerational communities.

None of these ideas is new; all of them reduce carbon, increase wellbeing and mitigate the ecological emergency.

The only thing required is an honest response to the question: 'What did you want Murphy's legacy to be in fifty years from now?'

Yours,
