Rear garden

1/ fraxinus excelsior: Ash. Tree consists of a main trunk with 2 leaders arising from the base and growing around and against the main trunk, causing a number of unions with each other and the main trunk. There is a cavity in the back of the tree, as viewed from the house, which is approximately 1 metre high and 0,5 metres deep. The crown has been previously reduced and has an unbalanced appearance. Reduce tree to previous reduction points, by approximately 2 metres in length retaining some lateral growth for shape.

Yours sincerely
