2022/0281/P	V Zimmerman	22/03/2022 17:25:00	OBJ	The proposal to add a frameless glass balustrade, as detailed in the south east elevation document, is of a design that is ugly and entirely not in keeping with this much loved 1930s art deco block. The block was built in 1934 and consists of 114 flats, all of which respect the design and materials of the original building, and to have one flat out of more than 100 propose an eyesore like this would create aesthetic dissonance, would make this flat stand out from all the others, and would harm the visual consistency and character of the block, adding a modern, unsightly element.
2022/0281/P	J Delves	22/03/2022 17:31:53	COMMNT	Hillfield Court is a 1930s brick built art deco block. The installation of a glass balustrade in this location would be inconsistent with the fabric of the building and out of keeping with the character and aesthetics of the rest of the block and, unless it is mandated by any regulations, should not be approved
